Dear [redacted]

It is with special pleasure that I inform you that you have been awarded the Intelligence Medal of Merit in recognition of your significant contributions during your distinguished career. As you may recall, the Intelligence Medal of Merit is awarded only to those employees who are recognized for truly outstanding service to our mission. Please accept my congratulations in advance.

As is customary, the Protocol Branch will be contacting you to arrange for the presentation of the medal. The branch currently has a backlog of clients for award presentations; this fact, combined with your imminent PCS departure, could delay notification. If you plan to be in the Washington area within, say, the next six months, perhaps the presentation could take place then. In any case, you can take pride in being awarded the IMM. I sincerely hope it is only the first of a series of pleasant occurrences as you [redacted] begin your retirement.
